Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "An orgy of football," was what one broadcaster called the television goings-on New Year's Day.

Over the seasons the bowl games and television in combination have changed the nation's New Year's Day habits. It has become a sports-watcher's marathon.

The leisurely old custom of receiving friends, dispensing warming cheer or making holiday calls has just about disappeared.

Television-watching now starts with the morning coffee and the first of the bowl parades and continues without interruption until the last gun of the Orange Bowl football game—12 hours broken only by circulation-restoring stretch periods during the commercials.

The parades are colorful, untaxing spectacles and appreciation of them is greatly enhanced if one has a color set. The oldest of them, the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade each year seems to grow more sophisticated and elaborate. This year there seemed to be more flowers, more pretty girls, bands, horses and more commercial overtones. Business concerns used it to plug their product; TV networks used it to plug their shows by turning out their stars.

Both CBS and NBC do excellent jobs of covering the extravaganza. One's choice of channel usually boils down to the one with the best reception or a personal reference for the commentators.

ABC got off to a 15-minute head start on the football that filled the small screens all afternoon and into the night. Presumably viewers who started to watch Mississippi upset Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl resisted the impulse a few minutes later to jump to CBS and the Cotton Bowl where Texas defeated Notre Dame.

NBC, along later with the Rose Bowl game, had no competition for the University of Southern California defeat of Michigan. And it also was unopposed with Penn State's Orange Bowl victory over Missouri which followed.

With football dominating the channels, a second TV set was a great help. NBC did manage a couple of hours of soap operas and game shows in mid-afternoon, and it was business as usual on CBS and ABC in the evening.

But after endless parades and scrimmages, comedy shows like "That Girl" and "Family Affair" seemed to have lost their charm. "The Jim Nabors Show" to the weary viewers appeared to be having a notably bad night.

A football fan won't complain, but most others will assert that four football games within 10 hours is a little too much of a good thing.

marked his 61st year relax.

Peace "concerns leaders, especially those invested with international responsibility," he said again on New Year's Day, during a "Day of Peace" Mass celebrated in a Rome church.

He ended his New Year's observations on peace with a prayer to God which took the form of a confession of humanity.

"Lord," the strongly worded prayer began, "our hands are still bloodstained from the last world wars, so that not all peoples have yet been able to take each other's hand in friendship."

He warned that "the terrible increasing danger of a world conflagration demanded the banishment of war from the earth."

Home Is Where The Jobs Are

By ERNIE HOOD
Distributed by NEA

Private household work is one of the largest areas of work for women, with more than 2.5 million so employed. Although all are engaged in providing help in the home, many different job titles are used: general maid, or day worker; mother's helper, personal maid, nursemaid, infant's nurse, baby sitter, home housekeeper, working housekeeper, farm housekeeper, cook, cook's helper, laundress, companion, governess and many others.

Moreover, there are even occupations typically performed by men: man-of-all-work (handyman or odd-jobs man), butler, butler-chau-feur, or butler-houseman, etc.

Incidentally, the great majority of those engaged in household work are employed in the South and only about 10 percent are in the West.

For most, there are no formal educational requirements, although such positions as governess and companion do require educational and cultural background.

Almost all household workers spend most of their working time in their employer's home, although few "live in." Most are employed in city areas.

Because of the close contact between these workers and members of the families for which they work, employers look for agreeable and trustworthy persons who are neat, clean and in good health. Some require their household workers, particularly cooks and infant's nurses, to have health certificates.

The ability to cook, sew, wash and iron and care for children is essential in many of the jobs.

Advancement, other than a wage increase, is generally not available, although career-minded persons change from time to time to homes where jobs requiring more skills are available.

Employment opportunities are expected to be excellent all through the 1970s. In addition to new jobs that will be created as the economy expands, thousands of job openings will occur each year as workers retire or leave for other reasons. Retirements and deaths are expected to result in at least 150,000 openings annually.

Employment of these people also is expected to increase moderately as family incomes, and the number of wives and mothers working outside the home, continue to rise.

Well-trained, competent household workers are expected, in fact, to be in great demand.

There is a great variance in wage levels, though this can easily be determined in local areas.

Police Give Time to Halt Some Crime

DETROIT (AP) — The leader of a campaign in which 168 policemen donated overtime to fight crime in a mainly black precinct says the volunteer program has improved police-community relations.

"We're getting invited to block club meetings and community groups that we never were invited to before," said Patrolman Joseph Wahl. "It turned out better than anyone suspected."

The policemen worked more than 1,200 unpaid hours during December as a holiday present to the residents of the 7th Precinct, where the crime rate is high.

There were no immediate statistics on whether the crime decreased.

"You don't mind paying taxes to men like that," said Mrs. Odan Givart.

"If the other people who live here are like me," said Adelle Donaldson, "they appreciate it. We need all the help we can get."

Wahl said, "The guys all say that it has helped. Just the other day my partner and I walked into a home and they asked if we were the men working on our day off."

Some residents, however, didn't notice the donation.

"I'm glad they work on their day off," said Bill Hayes, owner of a cleaners, "but I wish they'd work a little harder." Hayes said he had just been robbed.

"The police never come by here often enough," complained Laura Reed, who owns a second hand store.

"We aren't going to quit with this," Wahl said. "The men out here feel we're really on to something and we plan to start other unique ideas and programs to become closer to the community."

Ann Watkins, president of a block club, agreed that the Cop-for-Christmas idea hit the mark.

It began Dec. 1 and ended Wednesday night.

Traffic Death Toll Now 200

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The nation's traffic death toll for the four-day New Year's weekend reached 200 today.

Snow fell in scattered areas of the Western mountains and in parts of the plains, the Midwest and the Great Lakes. Main roadways generally were clear and dry elsewhere.

The count of traffic deaths began at 6 p.m., local time, Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday.

Establish uniform federal standards. Officials of the AMIA complain that insurance regulations traditionally have been set at the state level and that's where the responsibility should stay.

Seven states have laws protecting consumers from the type of company failure that has cost more than 240,000 people some $500 million in uncollectable claims in the past decade.

Three of those seven states passed laws after Magnuson introduced his bill and under prodding by the AMIA.

Alliance officials argue that 29 state legislatures will be meeting this year and with coaxing by the AMIA many should pass insolvency laws. This, say the officials, would lessen pressure for federal intervention.

The alliance, however, is fighting an uphill battle. For one thing, the federal insolvency measure has broad support in Congress. Not only was it introduced by the influential Magnuson but has the added luster of being a consumer bill in an election year.

Final hearings are set for Feb. 10 and floor action is likely before fall.

Complicating things further for the AMIA are deep divisions within the insurance industry.

The AMIA accounts for about 15 per cent of the auto market. Another 30 per cent is handled among the 120 members of the American Insurance Association-AIA.

The mutuals oppose any change in the status quo under which they've been making money. The stock companies have been losing money on auto policies and losing business.

Federal controls and uniform standards could be a way for the stock companies to recapture business through the mass merchandising they are best geared for.

Nixon Seems to Be Expert on Sports

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)

Forget the All America college football teams of 1969. It's a new year now and it would seem the sports commentator of the '70s may be President Nixon.

No later than Thursday morning—before the college bowl games began—Nixon told newsmen at the California White House he looked for close games all around.

It's now a matter of record that no major New Year's Day bowl contest was decided by more than one touchdown.

Perhaps history will award the chief executive at least a sort of mini-Helmsman Trophy for calling the big ones of the college season. Nixon kept an eye on the various bowl games on his television set.

Though he presumably did not try to straddle the Mason-Dixon Line, Nixon got himself in a peck of trouble at College Park, Pa., early in December when, on the basis of a come-from-behind victory over Arkansas, he awarded Texas the title of "No. 1 college football team in college football's 100th year."

Even such fellow Republicans as Gov. Raymond Shafer of Pennsylvania took umbrage at that. Shafer and some others thought Penn State was deserving of No. 1 ranking.

The Longhorns remained undefeated by eaking out a 21-17 win over Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas.

Penn State also kept its state clean, defeating Missouri 10 to 3 in the Orange Bowl.

In the nearby Rose Bowl, the University of Southern California—Pat Nixon's alma mater—won over Michigan, representative of the Big Ten, 10 to 3. And in the Sugar Bowl, Mississippi upset Arkansas, 27 to 22.

who had to pass on the papers that permitted the boats to sail, Israel denied that any international law had been broken. "The problem arose out of the unjustified existence of the embargo by France and not by a slip in its execution," said a Foreign Ministry statement.

Israeli officials said Limon had been scheduled to return home for reassignment anyway.

At the traditional New Year's Day reception for the diplomatic corps in Paris, President Georges Pompidou exchanged remarks with every ambassador except Walter Eytan of Israel. The Israeli got only a handshake.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda protested Israel's "theft of five gunboats from France" and restated the Kremlin's intention to "liquidate the consequences of Israeli aggression in the Middle East."

It was the first official Soviet comment on the gunboat affair.

The official Algerian press agency accused the French navy of "total passivity" for not stopping the gunboats as they sailed through the Mediterranean. But Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in a speech in Khartoum praised France, saying, "Unlike the United States, it adopted the road of justice and decided not to support the aggressor." He did not mention the gunboats.

On the heels of Nasser's speech came a report that Egypt was buying offensive weapons worth $345 million from an unidentified country. The report said the Soviet Union was not the seller.

Nasser had said in his speech that he was building an army of a million men to confront Israel and claimed Egypt already had 500,000 frontline troops.

Beirut's Al Hawadith magazine reported that Nasser asked Arab leaders at the summit conference in Rabat last month for an $86 million down-payment to clinch a new arms deal and outlined his arms plan.

living standards can be raised. But this smacks heavily of reform, and reform menaces an entrenched bureaucracy. And so, the document suggests that the economy must wait because "great resources of the state must be applied to defense" against those lurking imperialists.

Perhaps the answer is peaceful coexistence? Here there is another complication. It might inhibit the Communist revolution.

customers but a temporary recession. If you didn't have such short memories, you'd realize the reason."

"What is the reason, boss?" asked one of his major minions, who had a tail almost as long as the devil's.

"Why, because it is New Year's Day on earth," Satan replied testily. "Practically every erring human being on this day decides to reform his evil ways and become a saint."

"So he makes a resolution to give up sinning and adopt all the heavenly virtues."

"But won't that put us out of business, chief?" asked a young fiend.

"Hardly," said Satan contemptuously. "It takes a lot more than a simple good resolution to get a human being into heaven. As the fellow said, the road to hell is paved with good intentions."

"I've doubled my road crew of temptation salesmen. By the end of this week, most people will forget all their high-sounding resolves, succumb to the new brand of 1970 temptations I'm featuring, and begin hitting the highway to hell."

"So start fighting the putties right now. Soon you'll be so busy torturing a new crop of sinners that you'll probably try to demand overtime, a proposal which I don't mind telling you in advance I will regard as downright fiendish and totally unacceptable in a well-run hell."

Pope Makes Annual Plea for Peace

By DENNIS REDMONT

Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — If

Pope Paul's New Year plea for peace is any indication, he is likely in 1970 to continue vigorous personal gestures to help end the world's wars.

One gesture may be a symbolic "peace trip" to Hiroshima, Japan, site of the atomic bomb explosion. Or the pontiff may make new personal efforts to get Nigerians and Biafrans to the negotiating table.

In 1969, the Pope renewed his long-standing offers to help in achieving what he called "reconciliation" in Vietnam and the Middle East. His Vatican relief agency, Caritas, shipped and flew millions of dollars in medicine and supplies to the sick, the wounded and the homeless in those areas.

Pope Paul traveled for the first time to Africa, and in Uganda he met separately with Biafran and Nigerian delegates in an effort to get negotiations started again. He obtained only vague promises from both sides.

During the holiday season, Pope Paul expressed in several pessimistic speeches his frustration at not achieving results. World leaders—especially those of the major powers—bore the brunt of the blame.

These actions have led some observers to conclude that the Pope may be reverting to the role of a critical observer, rather than that of a participant in world affairs. Many, however, think he will not give up the personal diplomacy that has

Private-household work is one of the largest areas of work for women, with more than 2.5 million so employed. Although all are engaged in providing help in the home, many different job titles are used: general maid, or day worker; mother's helper, personal maid, nursemaid, infant's nurse, baby sitter, home housekeeper, working housekeeper, farm housekeeper, cook, cook's helper, laundress, companion, governess and many others.

Moreover, there are even occupations typically performed by men: man-of-all-work (handyman or odd-jobs man), butler, butler-chauffeur, or butler-houseman, etc.

Incidentally, the great majority of those engaged in household work are employed in the South and only about 10 percent are in the West.

For most, there are no formal educational requirements, although such positions as governess and companion do require educational and cultural background.

Almost all household workers spend most of their working time in their employer's home, although few "live in." Most are employed in city areas.

Because of the close contact between these workers and members of the families for which they work, employers look for agreeable and trustworthy persons who are neat, clean and in good health. Some require their household workers, particularly cooks and infant's nurses, to have health certificates.

The ability to cook, sew, wash and iron and care for children is essential in many of the jobs.

Advancement, other than a wage increase, is generally not available, although career-minded persons change from time to time to homes where jobs requiring more skills are available.

Employment opportunities are expected to be excellent all through the 1970s. In addition to new jobs that will be created as the economy expands, thousands of job openings will occur each year as workers retire or leave for other reasons. Retirements and deaths are expected to result in at least 150,000 openings annually.

Employment of these people also is expected to increase moderately as family incomes, and the number of wives and mothers working outside the home, continue to rise.

Well-trained, competent household workers are expected, in fact, to be in great demand.

There is a great variance in wage levels, though this can easily be determined in local areas.

Police Give Time to Halt Some Crime

DETROIT (AP) — The leader of a campaign in which 168 policemen donated overtime to fight crime in a mainly black precinct says the volunteer program has improved police-community relations.

"We're getting invited to block club meetings and community groups that we never were invited to before," said Patrolman Joseph Wahl. "It turned out better than anyone suspected."

The policemen worked more than 1,200 unpaid hours during December as a holiday present to the residents of the 7th Precinct, where the crime rate is high.

There were no immediate statistics on whether the crime decreased.

"You don't mind paying taxes to men like that," said Mrs. Olan Givart.

"If the other people who live here are like me," said Adelle Donaldson, "they appreciate it. We need all the help we can get."

Wahl said, "The guys all say that it has helped. Just the other day my partner and I walked into a home and they asked if we were the men working on our day off."

Some residents, however, didn't notice the donation.

"I'm glad they work on their day off," said Bill Hayes, owner of a cleaners, "but I wish they'd work a little harder." Hayes said he had just been robbed.

"The police never come by here often enough," complained Laura Reed, who owns a second hand store.

"We aren't going to quit with this," Wahl said. "The men out here feel we're really on to something and we plan to start other unique ideas and programs to become closer to the community."

Anne Watkins, president of a block club, agreed that the Cop-for-Christmas idea hit the mark. It began Dec. 1 and ended Wednesday night.

Dynamics Suit Filed Against Businessman

ST. LOUIS (AP) - General Dynamics Corp., has filed a $3-million lawsuit against a St. Louis businessman whom it accuses of "fraudulently corrupting" two aircraft parts inspectors to conceal defective parts made under subcontract for the swing-wing F111 fighter plane.

Named in the suit, filed in U.S. District Court, are Harry C. Bass Jr., of suburban Richmond Heights, and the Selb Manufacturing Co., of which he is president.

The parts are components of the "wing box," which contains the pivots for the movable wings of the Air Force fighter.

The F111 program has been plagued with technical difficulties and unanticipated costs for about two years. Some of the troubles had been linked to the "wing box," but a legal spokesman for General Dynamics said the planned replacement of the wing box with one of greater durability had no connection with the parts manufactured by Selb.

The petition of the Texas aircraft builder, filed Nov. 14, alleges that its inspectors were given gratuities totaling $3,902 by Bass and other employees of Selb between March and August of 1968.

SLE May Affect Any Part of Victim's Body

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q-My daughter, 24, has systemic lupus erythematosus. What causes it? Can it be cured? What are the complications?

A-One type of SLE is caused by a defective gene. It can be inherited through ancestors, not necessarily a parent, who suffer from any one of the collagen diseases - SLE, scleroderma, rheumatoid arthritis, dermatomyositis, Hashimoto's thyroiditis and others. There is no specific cure for this type. Another type may be caused by such drugs as penicillin, streptomycin, tetracycline, griseofulvin, sulfonamides, hydralazine, phenylbutazone, procainamide, propylthiouracil and others.

All victims of SLE should avoid exposure to direct sunlight. Antimalarial drugs, hydrocortisone and salicylates may be helpful. Since persons with this disease do not tolerate surgery well, operations should be attempted only as a lifesaving measure. The disease may affect any part of the body.

Q-I once read that pregnancy could trigger SLE. Could birth control pills have the same effect? What effect would cigarette smoking have on SLE?

A-I know of no case of this disease being precipitated by contraceptive pills. Smoking would have no specific effect on SLE but if the victim has any pulmonary involvement, he should most certainly refrain from smoking.

Q-Is it unusual to have several years of remission between bouts of SLE? Is it unusual for lupus arthritis to persist even during a remission?

A-The completeness and duration of the remissions are subject to wide variations. Involvement of the joints may persist while other manifestations decrease or clear up.

Q-My husband has been taking Ismelin (Hygroton) and Dyrenium for several years. What are they for and what are the side effects?

A-Guanethidine (Ismelin) is given to reduce the blood pressure. Its side effects include dizziness, weakness, diarrhea, nasal stuffiness and dryness of the mouth. Chlorthalidone (Dyrenium) is a diuretic that also helps control the blood pressure. The large dose may cause weakness, dizziness, nausea and headache. Triamterene (Dyrenium) is a diuretic. Its side effects include nausea, headache and weakness.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Earthquakes are vital to the continued development of our earth. During the past century, however, more than 800,000 people have been killed by earthquakes. The World Almanac says: No area is immune from the possibility of an earthquake, but four out of five occur around the fringe of the Pacific Ocean. Without earthquake action the earth's surface would become a place of stagnant seas and swamps because of erosion.

TALK OFTEN WITH YOUR GOD

ACROSS THE Centuries

When one carefully examines Psalms 37 they find it speaks for the whole Book . . . "I have been young and now I am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken." Psalms one begins with a quiet confidence, "Blessed is the man who walketh in the counsel of the ungodly."

Moses is reassuring his people when he calls upon mankind to praise God in Psalms 150. But David gave humanity its greatest comfort when he wrote the 23 Psalm, "The Lord Is My Shepherd." However, today's world is more complicated. Men have prostituted world affairs and manipulated things so that it is impossible to say it so simply.

In our legal order, men are forced to obey the laws which govern the world. But in a moral sense we have to obey God's law, for it is God's world. Since the Hebrew and the Christian have always believed the future is wholly in God's hand, we grey heads can sleep more comfortably if we have been good stewards in life.

Anyway, how about your church attendance? Be a regular church-goer and a true supporter. For God has and will always have total control

Our Vocal Neurosis

Dr. Morton Cooper, a speech therapist at UCLA, says, "Most people speak too low. It's the vocal neurosis of our culture." Non-scientific people probably assume they talk softly because of frequent parental reprimands about loud talking.

Few people read aloud today. Fewer sing around a piano in the parlor. Not many quote poems or significant passages of prose. Aside from public speaking courses, few bother to develop their voices. This is notably true with lawyers. Conversely, the oldtime lawyers, who spoke outdoors against the wind and without amplifiers, usually had a deep, musical voice.

But this is also the day of the incomplete sentence, the slurred phrase. Words per se are not precious to many of us. Fingers not only walk through the "yellow pages". We talk incessantly "with our hands," even on the telephone. Most of us never bother to put our thoughts into coherent units.

And a listener may have to decode even when the sound of a voice is not indistinct. Millions of conversations are raped with "like," in its new, bizarre juxtaposition to everything, and "you know what I mean" is almost as needlingly repetitious. This phrase is a vacuous crutch. The listener doesn't know what the speaker means, and, just as obviously, the speaker doesn't know either. The irrepressible, "the thing about it is," has become as impertinent as "23 Skiddoo" and "Tippecanoe and Tyler, too." — Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer

Breakthrough

We have been bemused in recent weeks by the sudden conjuring up of great silent majorities. Sometimes telegrams bearing 10,000 signatures appear within hours of speeches. Other times politicians can state which side is in the majority without even the formality of a poll. This represents another major American technological breakthrough. It is the "instant majority." — Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution

Cold Is in Store for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Cold temperature are expected in Arkansas Saturday as the state begins the first weekend of the New Year.

The forecast calls for light rain and snow mixed over the southern half of the state early tonight but only colder temperatures Saturday.

Sunshine Thursday brought warmer afternoon readings and melted some of the snow over the northern part of the state. At 6:30 a.m. today, Harrison still reported six inches of snow still on the ground. Fayetteville reported three inches remaining.

Skies Saturday are expected to be generally fair.

No precipitation has occurred in the state during the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a.m. today.

Middle East Fight Shifts From Canal

By HAL MCCLURE
 Associated Press Writer
 TEL AVIV (AP) — The focus of fighting in the Middle East has shifted overnight from the Suez Canal to Israel's borders with Jordan and Lebanon.

The northern development town of Kiryat Shmona came under rocket attack from Lebanon on Thursday, the military command said. And a watchman in the little village of Metulla, on the Lebanese border, was abducted by Arab commandos, a spokesman added.

A few miles to the south, Israeli jets knocked out Jordan's Ghor irrigation canal for the third time after heavy shelling from Jordanian and Iraqi batteries and what was described as "increased aggressive acts" by Arab guerrillas against Israeli settlements in the Beisan and Jordan valleys.

Gideon Gazit, a veteran Galilee settler and an official in the Israel land directorate's office, said most Israelis in the area see no alternative to protection but to grab a 19-mile stretch of the bleak Ghorad mountain chain that looks down from Jordan on the Israeli farmers.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan visited Metulla Thursday and said Israel viewed the kidnapping of the watchman with "particular gravity."

He said "terrorist activity" had increased along the Lebanese border since the Cairo agreement between the Arab commandos and the Lebanese government.

The Israeli air force returned meanwhile to the Suez Canal area to attack Egyptian military positions along the central portion of the canal, the Israeli command announced. A spokesman said all planes returned safely.

On the diplomatic front, repercussions continued in the wake of the successful circumvention of the French arms embargo by the five gunboats that escaped from Cherbourg Christmas morning. They arrived in Haifa New Year's Eve.

The French government ordered Adm. Mordechai Limon, Israel's chief arms purchaser in Europe, to leave France and suspended two French general

Brazilian Plane Hijacked

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A hijacked Brazilian airliner with 28 persons aboard landed in Lima early Friday to refuel. It apparently was bound for Cuba.

Police in Buenos Aires said four well dressed men and a woman took over control of the jetliner at gunpoint Thursday night shortly after it took off from Montevideo, Uruguay for Rio. The plane landed in Buenos Aires and Antofagasta, Chile, for fuel, then flew to Lima.

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP) — It was a dark day in hell, the darkest of the year.

At the main gate to Hades the usual long lines of sinners waiting to be admitted had vanished. The box office count had fallen to an alarming low.

It was a situation to depress even the foulest fiend. And frankly, some of the foulest fiends were more than depressed. They were verging on panic. So a group of them held an impromptu meeting.

"I haven't had a new sinner to stick my pitchfork into for at least two days," complained one. "And it's no fun jabbing our hardened sinners. Their hides are so tough they blunt the tines on my pitchfork."

"What I'm worried about is that our place might even be shut down," mumbled a toothless senior fiend, who had a face as wrinkled as a dried prune.

"I'd hate to have to look for work at my age. Who wants to hire a 4,012-year-old fiend?" The worried fiends then upon

 "You think you've got troubles?"

The Soviet Establishment might justifiably be asking that of the American and Chinese Establishments.

The Americans and Chinese had plenty of troubles in the decade just ended. The U.S. Establishment was badgered by impatient and disillusioned youngsters. China's bureaucracy was dismantled by hordes of young people who were told they were carrying out a cultural revolution.

Agnew Arrives in Formosa on Asia Tour

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

 TAIPEI (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in Formosa today to assure Nationalist China the U.S. government intends to stand by its treaty commitments. But en route from Vietnam he said the Nixon administration favors initiatives to lessen tensions with Communist China and permit a reduction in military spending.

Agnew told newsmen traveling with him that the recent relaxation of American restrictions on trade with mainland China reflect a hope they will lead to steps by the Chinese Communists to lessen the tensions that exist in Asia.

The United States, he continued, should not sit still in a stance of armed preparedness and make no initiatives to develop an atmosphere that will allow it to reduce military spending and use some of that money in programs needed at home.

But the vice president said U.S. efforts to ease tensions with the Communist Chinese do not in any way affect the U.S. commitment to the Nationalist Chinese.

"China is a country of 800 million people," he continued. "They can't be ignored. But attempting to begin a meaningful dialogue with them does not lessen our desire and our conviction that the Republic of China government must be protected in accordance with our stated treaty obligations."

Agnew said his purpose on the tour is to emphasize the "positive" side of the Nixon Doctrine for Asia—commitment to U.S. treaty obligations and U.S. defense of Asia against massive aggression.

He said he would assure President Chiang Kai-shek there is no diminution in the U.S. posture in Formosa, there is just a matter of different mechanics to political-bureaucratic complex in Moscow is nursing a bad case of nerves. A 13,000-word document issued by the Communist party's Central Committee and labeled "Theses" demonstrates this.

The Theses were promulgated to coincide with this year's celebration of the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth. The document obviously is supposed to be a guiding manual for Communists everywhere, inside and outside the Soviet Union.

But the document is something else again.

It produces a telling self-portrait of inner circle leaders who are haunted by ghosts and goblins, fetishes and phobias, and nagged and needled by enemies. After 52 years of authoritarian power, the leadership shows itself to be jealously guarding its privileges, captive of its own clichés and terrified of the very thought of change.

If the document is to be credited, enemies lurk everywhere waiting for an opportunity to bore from within and strike from without to disintegrate the Soviet system and the world revolutionary movement, and only strict adherence to Soviet orthodoxy on all fronts can rescue the situation.

The enemies are such things as "modern bourgeois ideology" slyly imported from the West

Scientists Seek to Learn Why Six States Escaped Hong Kong Flu

By FRANK CAREY
 Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government disease detectives are trying to solve a year-old influenza mystery: why did six states essentially escape last winter's raging epidemic of Hong Kong flu?

If they could crack it, the solution could have worldwide significance.

They said so Thursday in reiterating their confidence the United States will be spared any nationwide epidemic of flu this winter, despite the mounting influenza crisis affecting wide areas of Europe.

Indeed, the medical experts said, it's unlikely there will be more than sporadic or limited outbreaks in America, like some that have occurred already in Alaska and Puerto Rico.

Recalling last winter's epidemic of Hong Kong flu that sickened many thousands of Americans and killed at least 3,800, the experts said they are puzzled by questions like these:

Why were six states—Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Hawaii—virtually by-passed by the wave of Hong Kong virus, technically known as A-2-1968?

And will those same states have the same experience again—although now theoretically susceptible to sporadic outbreaks from this year's reappearance of the same virus?

Most residents of the other 44 states are now temporarily immune to the wily microbe, simply because they were infected last winter.

In contrast, last winter's epidemic struck relatively few people in Europe, thereby leaving thousands vulnerable to attack this winter.

It is possible the six by-passed states will essentially escape again this winter for the same still undetermined reason they did a year ago, said Dr. James O. Mason, deputy director of the U.S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center (CDC) in Atlanta, Ga.

But he indicated, in a telephone interview, that it's perhaps more likely that "sporadic outbreaks" of flu will occur in those states as well as in individual communities throughout the country that were virtually untouched by last winter's scourge.

"These are the things we are trying to understand about influenza," he said. "We really don't understand how or why it spreads in the fashion it does."

Indeed, the biggest mystery about last winter's epidemic of

Insurance Firms Lobby Against Bill

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
 Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's mutual insurance companies have mounted a coast-to-coast lobbying effort against a bill that would provide federal protection for customers of insurance firms that go broke.

The American Mutual Insurance Alliance, which is running the protest, is bitterly opposed to any increase in federal regulation of the insurance industry. The AMIA, representing 120 mutual companies, has elicited a blizzard of letters, fact sheets and personal contacts with governors and members of state legislatures.

Lobbying efforts apparently are aimed chiefly at 13 publicly uncommitted members of the Senate Commerce Committee. Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., and five of the other 18 committee members have cosponsored the bill which the AMIA opposes.

The bill would set up a Federal Insurance Guaranty Corp., to indemnify victims of property and casualty company insolvencies. Although holders of fire, theft and other policies would be protected, too, an industry spokesman said most insolvencies occur among auto insurers. The measure also would es-

Hong Kong flu is this:

"Why did a lot of Europe escape infection and excess mortality from the disease while the United States, at the same time, had major outbreaks, with an excess of deaths? Both parts of the world were, in theory, equally susceptible to the Hong Kong virus which represented a new mutant strain of influenza virus."

In the United States this winter, Mason said, there may also be "sporadic outbreaks" of another type of influenza—called Type-B—in communities relatively untouched by this type last winter.

Type-B, which mainly affects school-age children, is one of several forms of traditional influenza which cropped up periodically long before the so-called Asian and Hong Kong strains appeared.

As for the current situation in the United States, Mason gave this rundown:

—There already has been considerable illness in parts of Alaska, with several outbreaks confirmed as Hong Kong flu and the rest rated as flu-like ailments.

"But it's interesting to note," he said, "that the outbreaks have occurred primarily in communities not affected last year."

Funeral for Ashley Co. Sheriff

HAMBURG, Ark. (AP) — Funeral for Ashley County Sheriff B. A. Courson, 50, who was killed late Wednesday in an auto accident, was to be today in Hamburg.

Courson was killed when his car went out of control on Arkansas 81 about four miles north of Hamburg, skidded 950 feet and struck a tree, State Police said.

Witnesses said they saw the sheriff pursuing a red car at a high rate of speed about the time of the accident.

Courson, who had been sheriff since 1947, was a veteran of World War II. He spent 3½ years in a Japanese concentration camp and was a survivor of the Bataan Death March.

Survivors include three sons; his mother, two brothers and six sisters.

Both Parties Closing in on Vote-Rich Issue of Crime, Law, Order

By WALTER R. MEARS
 AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians, Democratic and Republican, are closing in on the vote-rich issue of crime and law and order legislation.

The skirmishing is likely to step up shortly after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 19, with legislation aimed at organized crime due for early action.

There already is the beginning of a political custody dispute over the bill involved, with the Democratic National Committee crediting it to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., while Republicans claim an administration trademark.

McClellan himself calls the bill a thoroughly bipartisan effort. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield described it as a composite measure, and said it would be one of the first bills taken up in the new session.

"The President's initiative for new and needed crime control programs must be made as soon as possible," said Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, in a session-end statement distributed by the GOP national committee.

At the same time, strategists at the Democratic National Committee have advised party officials and spokesmen to take the political offensive on crime, and to hold Nixon responsible "for his ineffectual handling" of that and other problems.

The administration has complained repeatedly that inaction in the Democratic-controlled Congress has hampered its anti-crime plan.

The Republican National Committee, in an analysis of Nixon's first year, said the administration has boosted the Justice Department crime fighting budget by more than $20 million, assigned more manpower to the field, and set up anti-racketeering squads.

Nixon urged organized crime legislation which would give the Justice Department new authority to shut down syndicated gambling operations, make it a federal offense for a gambler to bribe a local official, and let federal courts compel a witness to testify with immunity from prosecution.

But the Democratic committee account insisted flatly "There is no Nixon organized crime bill," and said McClellan shaped the whole package.

Two prominent Democratic senators have expressed misgivings about some provisions of the organized crime bill. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a party whip, and Philip A. Hart of Michigan, said the bill "goes beyond organized criminal activity" and seeks substantial changes in general criminal procedures. They advocated more limited legislation.

The administration also seeks legislation for narcotics control and for stiffened anti-obscenity laws.

U.S. Patrols Clash With the Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER
 Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — An American patrol stalked out along the Cambodian border just before the end of the allied New Year's cease-fire clashed with 50 to 70 North Vietnamese infiltrators, military spokesmen reported today.

The U.S. Command said 16 enemy soldiers were killed by the patrol, helicopter gunships firing under the light of flares and artillery. The fight broke out less than two hours after the truce ended at 6 p.m. and continued for four hours in marshes and rice paddies 42 miles northwest of Saigon.

No American casualties were reported.

U.S. forces maintained both ground and aerial reconnaissance patrols during the 24-hour allied cease-fire, contending that the enemy would take advantage of the cease-fire to move troops and supplies into place for a new offensive.

"We spotted them moving north parallel to the border," an American officer said. "It wasn't clear whether they engaged us first or we engaged them first. There was no report of any fire from or going into Cambodia."

U.S. B52 bombers resumed raids in South Vietnam following the cease-fire. Some 30 of the big bombers rained down nearly 1,000 tons of bombs near the Cambodian border.

The U.S. Command reported 12 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. today. It said seven Americans were wounded. South Vietnamese forces reported light casualties in two attacks.

Meanwhile, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew flew from Vietnam to Formosa after a 24-hour visit, saying, "I leave with the feeling that the new year will bring us closer to our common goal—peace."

He said discussions with President Nguyen Van Thieu and other top South Vietnamese and American officials "have confirmed to me the wisdom of our policies. We are following the right path."

Trying to forestall an enemy offensive that some American commanders expect next month, the B52 bombers concentrated their attacks on a staging area 10 miles south of the Cambodian border in War Zone C, 60 miles northwest of Saigon.

Communications reported only light action during the night after allied and Viet Cong cease-fires ended. The allied 24-hour cease-fire ended at 6 p.m. Thursday Saigon time and the Viet Cong 2-hour cease-fire ended seven hours later.

In Saigon, five hours before Agnew left, a bomb blew up an American Jeep parked in front of a house on the other side of town from where Agnew spent the night.

Vietnamese women were wounded, South Vietnamese headquarters said.

The U.S. Command said there were 115 enemy attacks on allied forces during the 24-hour allied cease-fire, 61 of them considered significant because they resulted in casualties. Headquarters said six Americans and 167 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were killed and 14 U.S. troops wounded.

Although the incidents were reported as "enemy initiated," U.S. Command communiques indicated that in several cases American troops opened fire first when they felt their positions were threatened.

The South Vietnamese command said there were 59 attacks against government forces and civilians. These resulted in the deaths of 17 government soldiers, one policeman and seven civilians. Sixty-six South Vietnamese soldiers, one policeman and seven civilians were reported wounded.

American casualties were less than those of recent New Year's cease-fires, but this year's truce was shorter than the previous ones. There was no allied cease-fire for New Year's a year ago. Two years ago, 87 Americans were reported killed and 205 wounded during a 36-hour cease-fire.

Texas, Penn State Await Poll Bowl

By HERSCHEL WATKINSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Texas and Penn State, unable to settle their differences on the football field, returned today in the state of New Year's Day bowl triumph and set back to await the outcome of this weekend's Poll Bowl, with the national championship at stake.

But with sports writers and broadcasters across the country set to vote in the final Associated Press poll, there seemed little doubt that (1) Texas virtually swept up the No. 1 ranking with a come-from-behind 21-17 victory over ninth-ranked Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl and (2) runner-up Penn State blew its chance for the top spot when it chose a return trip to the Orange Bowl, where it intercepted a record seven passes and beat fourth-ranked Missouri 10-3.

The rest of the rankings, though, are likely to undergo some shuffling as a result of 13th-ranked Mississippi's 27-22 triumph over No. 3 Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl, fifth-rated Southern California's 10-3 decision over No. 7 Michigan's Ohio State-busters in the Rose Bowl and Houston's 36-7 mauling of 12th-ranked Auburn in Wednesday night's Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. The Cougars had been tied for 17th. But the battle of words over who's No. 1, which has raged ever since Michigan ended Ohio State's reign on Nov. 22, showed no sign of abating.

President Richard Nixon, who presented Texas with a No. 1 plaque after the 15-14 regular season finale over Arkansas, phoned Coach Darrell Royal at the Cotton Bowl and told the Longhorns, "You played like champions."

"I'm glad we didn't embarrass you because you picked us as No. 1," Royal said.

"Even if you had lost it would not have embarrassed me," the President replied.

Aware of Texas' triumph, Penn State went out under the Orange Bowl lights and its brutal defense destroyed Missouri's Big Eight champs with the seven interceptions and two fumble recoveries.

"I don't know if we're No. 1," said Coach Joe Paterno, "but we have as much right as anybody else to be No. 1. I'm not saying we're No. 1, but we ought to get one or two votes. I've got to stick up for all my kids. I put a lot of pressure on them when I said they were No. 1. I can't let Richard Nixon say someone else is No. 1. I'd be a lousy coach if I did."

With the nation's longest current streaks of 22 victories and 30 non-losing games, the Nittany Lions have at least one friend in Missouri's Dan Devine.

"If I had a vote, I might vote a tie between Texas and Penn State," said Devine, whose team had averaged five touchdowns through 10 regular season games. "I can guarantee you that I wouldn't vote Penn State No. 2 under any circumstances."

Inspired by the sight of safety Fred Steinmark standing along the sidelines on crutches, Texas marched 76 yards and won the game on Billy Dale's one-yard slant off left tackle with 68 seconds left. Notre Dame had gone ahead 17-14 on Joe Theismann's 24-yard pass to Jim Yoder with 6 1/2 minutes left.

Steinmark had his cancerous left leg amputated a few days after the Arkansas game.

Included in the Longhorns-winning drive were two fourth-and-two plays. Ted Koy picked up a first down by inches from the Notre Dame 20 and Cotton Speyrer made a diving catch of James Street's eight-yard pass at the two.

Notre Dame, making its first bowl appearance in 45 years and with the three surviving members of the legendary Four Horsemen looking on, had to be satisfied with a check for an es-

Little Texans Did Move Big Irish Linemen

By ROBERT H. JOHNSON JR.
Associated Press Sports Editor
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The pre-game debate was whether Texas' little linemen could move Notre Dame's big ones. The post-game amazement was how well they pushed them around as the Longhorns beat the Irish 21-17 in the 34th Cotton Bowl classic.

The good little men didn't beat the good big men alone Thursday. Texas' own big men in the backfield tromped through the Notre Dame line and backfield on three touchdown drives that wrecked the Irish's first bowl effort in 45 years.

Quarterback James Street whipped the Texas chargers for 331 yards on the ground.

A Notre Dame spokesman said the Irish hadn't given up that much yardage since at least 1965. Notre Dame opponents during the '69 season averaged only 85 yards rushing.

In doing it, Texas all but tied the ribbon on the national football championship.

The results of the final Associated Press poll to determine the title will be announced Sunday—but there wasn't much doubt that the sports writers and broadcasters voting in it would follow the lead of President Nixon, who gave Texas a title plaque when the Longhorns defeated Arkansas Dec. 6.

Texas took its inspiration from safety Fred Steinmark, who stood throughout the game on one leg and a aluminum crutches. His cancerous left leg was amputated after the Arkansas game, won by Texas 15-14.

Street put together the two winning touchdown drives in the fourth quarter, saving the last one with two gambling calls on fourth and two.

The last big save was an eight yard pass Street drilled into split end Charles "Cotton" Speyrer's chest as Speyrer dove past Notre Dame's Clarence Ellis and hung onto it falling down.

That gave Texas first and goal on the two, and on third down with 1:08 remaining, Billy Dale crashed over from the one with the winning touchdown.

"I didn't even know it was fourth down," Speyrer said later of his clutch catch.

"I never thought we would lose, but on that fourth down play, I thought 'this may be my whole football career,'" said Street, who has never played a losing game in guiding Texas to 20 straight victories in a row and its 500th in history.

The Texas players said ninth-ranked Notre Dame was the toughest team they've faced.

The Irish started out looking almost too tough for Texas. Notre Dame took the opening kickoff, marched 82 yards, and went ahead with a 26-yard field goal by Scott Hempel. Then Notre Dame's skinny quarterback Joe Theismann hit Tom Gatwood with a 54-yard touchdown pass.

Texas crunched back on the ground and scored its first touchdown on a one-yard plunge by Jim Bertelsen.

The game rocked between the 20-yard lines in the third period, but Texas' devastating ground attack exploded in the fourth quarter.

Against a line that outweighed them 20 pounds per man, Texas slammed 77 yards in 18 plays and Ted Koy scored with a three-yard run.

The Longhorns hadn't won by any means. Theismann came slashing back and scored with a 26-yard pass to Jim Yoder with 6:32 left.

Fullback Steve Worster, Koy and Bertelsen slammed back, eating up yardage and knocking down tacklers.

Theismann drove Notre Dame back but Texas' Tom Campbell, just as he had in the Arkansas game, broke off the final threat with an interception on the Texas 24. Fired up players began to scuffle and teammates charged onto the field but the officials restored order, and Texas kept the ball on the ground for the two plays needed to run out the clock.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who attended the game, went to the dressing rooms to congratulate both teams. President Nixon telephoned his congratulations to Royal.

"Mr. President, I am glad that we did not embarrass you by selecting us No. 1," said Royal.

"I wouldn't have been embarrassed even if you had lost—it was such a tremendous game," he said Nixon replied.

Sports writers at the game voted Worster, who carried the ball 20 times for 155 yards, the

Wolverines Concerned About Coach

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—It was a saddened Michigan dressing room Thursday—not so much because the Wolverines lost to Southern California in the Rose Bowl but because they were concerned about the condition of their hospitalized coach.

U-M Coach Bo Schembechler was not on the sidelines New Year's Day when his team lost 10-3 to the Trojans. Instead, he was confined to a bed at St. Luke's Hospital here.

The players originally were told the reason was a mild heart attack. "But later team physicians said there may be no specific diagnosis for several days."

"Coach Jim Young told me at 11 a.m. that Bo suffered a mild heart attack," said captain Jim Mandich. "The guys were pretty shook up. Some were crying before the game."

Drs. Gerald O'Connor and Robert Anderson said: "We have no specific diagnosis of Schembechler's condition now."

Schembechler, 40, is in his first year at Michigan after six years as head coach at Miami of Ohio.

"His absence was a blow to all of us," Young said. "The team did a terrific job under the circumstances."

Mandich, an All American tight end who caught eight passes for 79 yards, said Bo's absence "was crippling because he called every offensive play all year."

Quarterback Don Moorhead seemed still in shock after the game at Schembechler's condition.

"He was the one who got us here," he said softly. "He let us go out at night and he only left the hotel one night. He stayed and watched game films and was always working."

Middle guard Henry Hill said there was no "win one for the Gipper attitude" among Michigan players because of their coach's condition.

game's most valuable offensive player, and Notre Dame's line-backer Bob Olson, who ranged like a two-ton gazelle all over the field, the most valuable defensive player.

In the quiet of the Texas dressing room, after the cheering and the horse play and the questions, Royal presented the game ball to Steinmark.

Super Bowl Pair to Be Determined

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and all that jazz will add a little extra spice to a pair of football games that will determine the teams that will go to the Super Bowl.

Both Cleveland and Kansas City will have revenge motivations—along with the incentive of making it to pro football's world championship showdown—going for them in Sunday's titanic clashes.

The Browns, who take on Minnesota at Bloomington for the National Football League title, will be trying to atone for a 51-3 shellacking inflicted on them by the Vikings during the regular season.

The Chiefs, meanwhile, will be hoping to cure a long jinx against Oakland in the American Football League's title match on the West Coast.

The Raiders have won seven of their last eight meetings with Kansas City—including the playoff for the Western title a year ago and 27-24 and 10-6 victories this season when Oakland again took the West championship.

The NFL finale (to be nationally televised at 1 p.m. EST, CBS-TV) matches a pair of teams lavishly endowed with brute strength. But since each was successful in stopping the rush this season, the outcome could rest on the passing of the Vikings' sensational Joe Kapp and Cleveland's Bill Nelsen.

However, the Vikings will test the Brown line with the strong running of Dave Osborn, Bill Brown and Oscar Reed, while the Browns will counter with dangerous Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott.

Cleveland's big chore will be not only to stop the unpredictable Kapp, but to also provide adequate protection for Nelsen—something the Browns didn't do in the previous meeting with Minnesota. The Vikings dumped Nelsen twice and intercepted three of his passes during the regular season rout.

Kapp, whose philosophy is "If the goal line is close, I'll go get it," augments his passing with excellent running. He carried 22 times for 104 yards this season, and scored two touchdowns in last week's 23-20 victory over Los Angeles for the Western Conference title.

Despite that earlier pulverization, Viking Coach Bud Grant is taking a cautious attitude toward Sunday's battle.

"They have more game breakers than any other team in the league," he said. "Now with the emergence of Bo Scott, it gives them even more."

Scott accounted for two touchdowns in Cleveland's 38-14 coast past Dallas last week for the Eastern Conference title.

It's the 11th NFL title game for the Browns since 1950—and their fourth during Coach Blanton Collier's seven years as head man—while the Vikings will be appearing in their first title game.

"I would guess they'd be very hungry," said Collier. "But I hope the fact that we went to the title game and lost will have some effect on us." Baltimore clipped the Browns 34-0 in last year's title game.

The AFL title game (at 4 p.m., EST, NBC-TV) will be a hookup between Oakland's explosive passing attack and the Chiefs' rugged running game.

Raider quarterback Darryl Long hit 221 of 426 passes for 3,302 yards and 34 touchdowns this season. Warren Wells hauled in 14 of those TD strikes, while Fred Biletnikoff was on the receiving end of 12.

Wells suffered a shoulder separation in the Raiders' last game of the season, but is expected to play Sunday although he may not start.

Rod Sherman, who didn't catch a pass all season, took over for Wells in the playoff rout of Houston and snared two TD catches.

Mike Garret, who picked up 732 yards in 168 carries for a 4.4 average, heads the Chiefs' bruising ground attack, which rolled up 2,200 yards this season. Robert Holmes accounted for 612 of those yards and Warren McVea 500.

The weekend of pro activity gets underway Saturday, when Los Angeles tests Dallas at Miami in the NFL runnerup bowl.

Trojans See Possibility of 5th Bowl

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Southern California's Trojans lose three members of their vaunted "Wild Bunch" defensive front line next season yet coach John McKay sees a possibility of a fifth straight Rose Bowl appearance.

When they won the right to play a fourth time, and beat Michigan 10-3 on New Year's Day before a record crowd of 103,878, they became the first club ever to play in the classic that many successive times.

"We have as good a chance as anybody to play here again next year," declared McKay whose stars on offense were mainly underclassmen.

A 33-yard scoring pass from sophomore quarterback Jimmy Jones to junior flanker Bob Chandler brought the points needed to win, but defense held the key.

McKay augmented his Wild Bunch with 250-pound Tony Terry to form a six-man defensive line for this game and the wall threw back the best efforts of Michigan quarterback Don Moorhead and his crew.

The Wolverines were forced to play without their head coach, Bo Schembechler, who was hospitalized for tests after suffering chest pains. Assistant coach Jim Young ran the team. For a full quarter, they also had to go without star tailback Bill Taylor who was hurt on the fourth play of the second period and didn't return until the third.

Defensively, the Trojans slammed through to check the Michigan runners and hurry Moorhead's passing. The Wild Bunch played tough and they're big.

"That was our best defensive game," declared McKay and much of the credit goes to the front wall of Jimmy Gunn, a quick 213-pounder, Tody Smith, 237, Bubba Scott, 237, Al Cowlings, 249 and Charlie Weaver, 204. Gunn, Scott and Cowlings are seniors who wound up their collegiate careers with the victory.

McKay's Rose Bowl strategy could be seen in his post-game statement that, "I thought we would run on them and our game plan was to control the ball as much as possible. I didn't think anybody could run on us too much."

Southern California's No. 1 tailback, Clarence Davis, suffered from bruised ribs so he alternated at the spot with Mike Berry. Both are juniors. Davis gained 76 yards and Berry 65. Between them, they carried on 38 of the winner's runs.

McKay, complimented by President Nixon in a phone call, told the chief executive, "If you ever need any bodyguards, I'll send that five to you."

Asked if he felt the new formation was effective, McKay replied with the obvious, "They only scored three points, didn't they?"

Penn State Now Claims To Be 1-A

MIAMI (AP)—College football's war over the No. 1 ranking has one final hand-count coming and Penn State quarterback Chuck Burkhardt has offered a solution.

"If we're not No. 1, we've got to be No. 1-A," said the kid who can't do anything but win.

Missouri Coach Dan Devine agreed, even in a moment of agony after Thursday night's 10-3 Orange Bowl defeat.

"I can't see how anybody can be better," said Devine. "I don't want to make Darrell Royal (Texas coach), President Nixon or anybody else unhappy, but I couldn't vote Penn State as low as No. 2 under any circumstances."

Burkhardt was named the most valuable back in the Orange Bowl for the second straight year. Last time he triggered a 15-14 victory over Kansas. The McKees Rocks, Pa., senior has gone through 42 consecutive games without losing—20 in high school and 22 with the Nittany Lions.

"I played the first half with one of my contact lens missing," admitted the smiling winner. "I guess I pass better with one eye."

Montgomery Almost Pulls Hogs Through

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi's Archie Manning was everything expected, a quarterback cast in a rare mold. But there wouldn't be much argument if Bill Montgomery of Arkansas was put in the super star class, too, not after his performance in the Sugar Bowl.

Manning, who finished high in the voting for player of the year in college football, mystified the Razorback defense and had a crowd of 82,500 gasping with his first half performance yesterday and was the architect of the Rebels' 27-22 throbbing victory.

The 6-foot, three-inch, signal caller from the little town of Drew, Miss., earned the game's outstanding player award with production that showed 21 completions in 35 pass attempts for 273 yards and another 39 on the ground, including an 18-yard touchdown scamper.

Montgomery, the senior Arkansas field pilot from Carrollton, Tex., almost drove the Razorbacks to a triumph in the closing minutes. He hit on 17 of 34 passes for 338 yards and two touchdowns and had the Hogs hollering until the last minute and a half when Rebel safety Glenn Cannon's fumble recovery shut the door.

Coach Frank Broyles of the third-ranked Razorbacks said simply that "It was a great afternoon for spectators and Mississippi." He didn't compare the Rebels to Texas, the nation's No. 1 team which squeaked past Notre Dame 21-17 in the Cotton Bowl. Texas edged Arkansas 15-14 in the final game of the regular season.

It was midway in the first quarter when the Rebels hung up their first touchdown. Fullback Bo Bowen smashed through a gaping hole at left tackle and 69 yards later Ole Miss was on the scoreboard.

With just 1:15 left in the opening quarter, after two Manning passes had eaten up big yardage, Manning rolled around right end and stumbled into the end zone on an 18-yard sweep. Perry King kicked his second conversion and the Rebels had a 14-0 bulge.

Arkansas pulled matters together in the second period and started a 13-play drive that covered 81 yards with Bill Burnett scoring after Bruce Maxwell's block cleared the way from the 13.

Right back came Mississippi with Cloyce Hinton adding three points on a 52-yard field goal, a Sugar Bowl record, and the Rebels grabbing another touchdown three minutes later on Manning's 30-yard strike to Vernon Studdard.

Montgomery matched Manning's overhead display with a 47-yard pitch that found Chuck Dicus nearly all alone at the goal line. But Mississippi took a 24-12 margin into the dressing room at halftime.

The Rebels drew first blood in the third period on Hinton's 36-yard field goal but that was their point output for the day. Then, Montgomery and the Razorbacks started to run things.

Bill McClard cut into the edge with a 35-yard field goal that brought the score to 27-15 late in the third quarter and Dennis Bernier's theft of a Manning toss at the Rebel 41 and his return of it to the Mississippi 11 set up

Bobcats on Home Floor Tonight

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports writer

Trying to start off the new year right, the Hope Bobcats hit the home floor tonight to face the Foreman Alligators in a non-conference game at Jones Field House.

With a 6-3 record Hope also owns a 51-46 win at Foreman three weeks ago, and the Bobcats were without center John Dudley that night.

At home the Bobcats haven't lost, either (a tradition Coach John Ross hopes to reestablish here), and the home-court advantage should be stronger with the staleness of the holidays layoff.

Action will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a senior girls game, as the Hope Lady Cats get into full swing again for a full month in January.

Tomorrow night the Bobcats travel to Donaldson (between Arkadelphia and Malvern on old U.S. 67) along with the Yarger Junior Bobkittens for a pair of games at Ouachita High School starting at 6:30 p.m.

Texas Win Dedicated to Steinmark

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Texas dedicated its 21-17 Cotton Bowl victory over Notre Dame Thursday to courageous Freddie Steinmark, but he discounted the possibility that his being on the sidelines gave the No. 1 ranked Longhorns any morale boost.

Steinmark was Texas' starting safety before his cancerous left leg was amputated several weeks ago. He stood on his crutches at the sidelines during the game.

"They didn't need a morale boost," Steinmark said. "They knew what they had to do and they did it."

Steinmark roamed the Texas bench, encouraging players, smiling at times and solemn when the "Horns were in trouble."

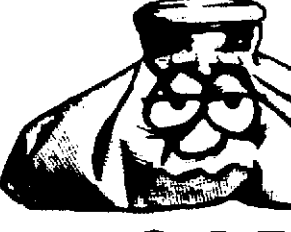

Each time Texas made a good play on the field the players would come by to shake his hand or pat him on the back.

the final game tally. Montgomery hit Maxwell with a six-yard swing pass for the touchdown.

The loss was only the second for Arkansas, which finished behind Texas and Penn State in the Associated Press rankings of college teams. Ole Miss, with a 7-3 season record, finished the regular season as the No. 13 team and was a slight underdog to the Razorbacks.

For Broyles, it was continued frustration since he has yet to defeat a Vought-coached team.

For Vaughn, he can hardly wait for next season. After all, Ole Miss will have Archie Manning back.
